LAIRD'S LOCH AND NORTHBALLO HILL

This is an easy walk, suitable for everyone. From the car park at the top of Tullybaccart Brae, the walk passes through the Hallyburton Community Woodland and then through some Scots pines by the shore of Laird's Loch, a small loch where you will usually find a variety of waterbirds and also anglers. Beyond the loch the route circles clockwise round Northballo Hill on wide forestry tracks, passing through larches and Scots pines before returning to the loch.

Directions

Terrain:

An easy walk by a small loch which includes a circuit of one of the smaller Sidlaw tops, On paths throughout and suitable for all seasons.
