BACKMUIR WOOD

This lovely mix of ancient broadleaved woodland, conifer and open glades was once part of the estate belonging to the Earl of Moray. It's home to a wealth of wildlife, including red squirrel and has varied flora with some fascinating fungi whilst offering breathtaking views over the Firth of Tay and the Sidlaw Hills.

Directions

Terrain:

Woodland and drover's trail walk with some great views over the Carse of Gowrie. Some walking on pavements and 100 yards on road.
